SUPPLEMENTAL EXAMINER'S ANSWER

This is in response to appellant's reply brief on appeal filed 07-21-93.

1. Claim 27 stands rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Appellant argues that a computer program on a medium is a physical thing or product, thus, the claimed subject matter falls within one of the four statutory classes of invention. However, a compact disk with recorded music is a also physical thing, but the information therein is not patentable. A computer program on a disk is, likewise, information recorded on a medium, which information fails to fall within any of the four statutory classes of invention.

Art Unit: 2301

2. The specification stands objected to under 35 USC 112 first paragraph, as failing to adequately teach how to make and/or use the invention, i.e., failing to provide an enabling disclosure.

Applicant argues the process which is disclosed in the specification, however, the specification has no support for a computer program, without more, carrying out the claimed functions.

- 3. Claim 27 stands rejected under 35 USC 112 first paragraph, for the reasons set for regarding the objection to the specification.
- 4. Claim 27 stands rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

What is claimed is a computer program, and appellant fails to point out how the computer program, without more, can carry out the claimed functions. Serial Number: 07/352,530

Art Unit: 2301

5. Claim 27 stands rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 103 as being unpatentable over the well known data processing technique of storing a "computer program" on a storage media for later use by a computer.

What is claimed is a computer program residing on a medium. This is clearly well known in the art.

6. For the above reasons, it is believed that the rejections should be sustained.

Respectfully submitted,
